D. 1875, and assembled at the seat of government of said Territory, in pursuance of said Act, on the twentieth day of December, A. D. 1875, after the organization of said Convention, and before proceeding to other business, it was, on the 22d day of December, A. D. 1875,

Resolved, That in pursuance of the Enabling Act, and in behalf of the People of Colorado, we, in convention assembled, do adopt the Constitution of the United States.

ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE OF COLORADO.

Your representatives, in convention assembled, under the provisions of an act of Congress, approved March 3, A. D. 1875, for the purpose of framing a Constitution for the State of Colorado, have completed the work, and herewith submit the result of their labors for your adoption or rejection. The task was an arduous one, requiring a session of eighty-six days, during which time the Convention labored assiduously to frame a fundamental law, wise and wholesome in itself, and which would be adapted to the general wants of the people.

In a work of such magnitude, where the interests are so varied and extensive, it is to be expected that errors would creep in, and omissions pass unnoticed, but, upon the whole, we believe it contains not only all of the primitive rights guaranteed in our National Constitution, but most of those reformatory measures which the experience of the past century have proven to be wise and judicious.

The end sought to be accomplished was to secure a just and economical administration of the Departments of State, and, with this purpose in view, especial effort was made to restrict the powers of the Legislative Department, by making all laws general and of uniform operation; to establish uniformity in the Judicial Department—thereby furthering the ends of justice; to prevent the corruption of public officials; to provide for the safe keeping of all public funds, and to protect the people from unjust monopolies, and the oppression consequent upon the voting of bonds and other kinds of indebtedness to corporations.

But, believing that your interest in the instrument now submitted for your consideration, will lead you to give it personal examination, and that you may be able to form a clear and correct opinion regarding its merits, your careful attention is invited to some of the prominent features of the different articles, which we think must meet your approval.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

In this article the usual guarantees of national and civil rights have been retained, and to the end that more power should be reserved to the people, it is further declared that the General Assembly shall make no irrevocable grants of special privileges or immunities; that private property shall not be taken or damaged for public or private use without just compensation previously made to the owner thereof, or paid into court for his use; that no preference shall be given by law to religious denominations; that right and justice shall be administered without sale, denial or delay; that aliens, who are bona fide residents of the State, shall acquire, inherit, possess and enjoy property to the full extent as if native-born citizens. The Grand Jury system has been so modified as to make a grand jury consist of twelve men instead of twenty-three—any nine of whom concurring may find a bill, and the question whether it may not be abolished altogether is left to the legislature. The Petit Jury system has been so modified as to permit the organization of a jury of less than twelve men in civil cases, thereby materially reducing the expenses of our courts. The right of trial by jury in all criminal cases has been preserved, and for the purpose of protecting witnesses in criminal prosecutions, and that the accused may always meet the witnesses against him face to face, we have provided for the taking of depositions before some Judge of the Supreme, District or County Court, which can be used upon trial of the cause when the personal attendance of the witness cannot be obtained.

ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE OF COLORADO. 55

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

The term of office of the Governor and other State officers, is fixed at two years, thereby giving the people frequent opportunities to correct the administration of affairs in this department.

It is made the duty of all the State officers to keep an account of all moneys received or disbursed by them, while the Treasurer is required to furnish the Governor a quarterly statement under oath, of all moneys in his hands and the place where kept or deposited, which statement is to be published for the information of the people. The Governor is required to transmit these statements to the General Assembly when called for, thus enabling the representatives of the people to expose, or by suitable laws prevent extravagance and frauds; and that the people may always have a proper understanding of the financial condition of the State; the Governor, upon the meeting of the General Assembly, is required to furnish to that body a full and correct statement of the expenses of the State, as well as an estimate of the revenue derived from all sources.

The Governor is given the power to remove all officers by him appointed, for misconduct or malfeasance in office; he is also empowered to grant pardons, subject, however, to such regulations for the application of the same as may be provided by law, and in all cases when a pardon is granted, he is required to send the reason for granting the same to the General Assembly.

ADDRESS TO THE

As an additional check upon ill-advised legislation, a majority of two-thirds of all the members of each House is required to pass a bill over the veto of the Governor.

The office of Lieutenant Governor is created, thereby giving the State the benefit of an officer elected by the people to fill any vacancy that might occur in the office of Governor; he is also made the presiding officer in the State Senate, and has the majority vote in that body in case of a tie.

All the State officers are paid by salaries for their services, and are required to pay into the treasury all fees by them collected in their respective offices.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The General Assembly is required to meet once in two years, and is limited to a session of forty days, after the first Legislature under the State. The term of office of the Senators is fixed at four years; that of the Representatives at two. For the first session the compensation of the members of the General Assembly is fixed at four dollars per day, and thereafter as may be provided by law. No member of the General Assembly shall, during his term of office, receive any increase of salary, or mileage, above that allowed at the time of his election.

The evils of local and special legislation being enormous, the passage of any law not general in its provisions is prohibited—thus saving the State from expenses usually incurred in passing and publishing laws secured by combinations to advance private interests, and to create dangerous monopolies.

To afford protection from hasty legislation, it is required that all bills shall be printed; that only one subject shall be embraced in each bill, which shall be clearly expressed in its title; that it shall be read on three different days in each House before being passed, and that no bill shall be introduced, except for the general expenses of the government, after the first twenty-five days of the session.

We invite your special attention to section twenty-five of the article on legislation, wherein are enumerated the many cases in which the General Assembly is prohibited from passing any local or special laws.

To provide against extravagance we have prohibited the passing of any law giving extra compensation to any public officer, servant, agent or employé, after services rendered, without previous authority of law; nor is any officer of the State to be in any way interested in any contracts or awards by which the legislative and other departments of government are furnished with stationery, printing, paper and fuel.

It is further provided that no appropriation shall be made to any denominational, sectarian or any other institution not under the absolute control of the State.

Attention is also directed to sections twenty-seven and twenty-eight, providing against the corruptions heretofore complained of in legislative bodies, and prescribing punishments therefor.

JUDICIARY.

Radical changes have been made in the judicial system, to meet the imperative demands of our rapidly increasing population. As at present constituted our courts are wholly inadequate to the transaction of the business brought before them. The consequence is, causes accumulate on the dockets, and are continued from term to term, both in the District Courts and in the Supreme Court, causing expensive and ruinous delays to parties litigant, and when reached for disposal sufficient time and attention cannot be devoted to their consideration to render the same satisfactory to either courts or litigants. To correct these evils an additional judicial district is provided, with an additional district judge, making four instead of three judicial districts. This will enable the District Courts to dispose of business with proper consideration and dispatch for several years, and the General Assembly is permitted to increase the number of judicial districts and the number of judges after the year 1880.

The district courts are invested with original jurisdiction to hear and determine all controversies in behalf of the people, concerning the rights, duties and liabilities of railroad, telegraph and toll road companies or corporations. A Supreme Court, composed of different Judges from those of the District Courts, is created. This court will have three Judges, and as constituted will obviate the objections long entertained and frequently expressed against our present system, by which the same Judge who presides over the trial of a cause in the District Court, sits in review of his own decision in the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court will now be better enabled to fully and impartially investigate and properly decide all causes brought before it, and to write out carefully prepared and creditable opinions in all causes heard and determined by it.

Experience having shown frequent changes of the judiciary to be unwise and detrimental to the public interest, long terms are prescribed for the Judges of these courts. The Judges of the District Courts will be elected for six, and those of the Supreme Court for nine years.

Instead of Probate Courts, County Courts are created for every county, with probate jurisdiction, and such civil and criminal jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law, their civil jurisdiction being limited to controversies in which the amount involved does not exceed the sum of two thousand dollars. The Judges of these courts will be elected for three years.

ADDRESS TO THE

The General Assembly is empowered to create Criminal Courts for counties having a population exceeding fifteen thousand, and Police Magistrates for cities and towns.

Justices of the Peace have jurisdiction to the amount of three hundred dollars.

Provision is made for the settlement of differences by arbitration for those who prefer that summary mode of adjustment to the more tedious and expensive litigation in other courts.

All laws relating to courts are required to be of uniform operation throughout the State, and the organization, jurisdiction, powers, proceedings and practice of all the courts of the same class or grade, and the force and effect of their proceedings are required to be uniform. All judicial officers will be elected by the people, and after the first election they may be elected on a different day from that on which an election is held for any other purpose, thus taking judicial elections out of the arena of party politics.

EDUCATION.

By the provisions in this article the general supervision of the public schools is vested in a Board of Education.

The maintenance of free public schools, and the gratuitous instruction therein for all children between the ages of six and twenty-one years, is forever guaranteed.

It is declared that the public school fund shall forever remain inviolate and intact; that neither the State, nor any county, city, town or school district shall ever make any appropriation, nor pay from any public fund anything in aid of, or to help support, any school or institution of learning of any kind controlled by any church or sectarian denomination whatsoever; that no religious test shall ever be required as a condition for admission into any of the public schools, either as pupil or teacher; that no religious or sectarian dogmas shall ever be taught in any of the schools under the patronage of the State.

The General Assembly is required to pass suitable laws to husband, to the fullest extent, the several grants of land donated by the general government to this State for school purposes. It is provided that the several institutions of learning and charity now fostered by the Territory shall be perpetuated and cared for by the State.

LEGISLATIVE APPORTIONMENT.

To guard against the undue influences to which small bodies are exposed, and in order that every portion of our extensive State, with its numerous and diversified interests, may be fairly represented, the Senate is made to consist of twenty-six, and the House of Representatives of forty-nine, members—these members not to be increased until 1890.

A State census is provided to be taken in the year 1885, and every ten years thereafter, which, with the federal census of 1880, and decennially thereafter, will enable the General Assembly to revise and correct the apportionment, on the basis of population, every five years. By these revisions the portions of the State which most rapidly increase in population will receive additional representation.

In view of the provisions against special legislation, already adverted to, and other measures adopted to secure economy in legislation, it is estimated that the additional expense of a legislature composed of this number over a smaller body will not be great, and that the benefits to be derived from a larger representation will more than compensate the increased expenditure. By this apportionment, every county will have a member in the House of Representatives, without regard to population.

Such a provision in a State where many of its counties are larger than whole States further east, is a necessity, and must commend itself to general approval.

CORPORATIONS.

Probably no subject has come before the Convention causing more anxiety and concern than the troublesome and vexed question pertaining to corporations. The legislatures of other States have, in most cases, been found unequal to the task of preventing abuses and protecting the people from the grasping and monopolizing tendencies of railroads and other corporations. Experience has shown that positive restrictions on the powers of the legislature in relation to these matters are necessary.

To this end we have provided for the wiping out of all dormant and sham corporations claiming special and exclusive privileges. We have denied the General Assembly the power to create corporations, or to extend or enlarge their chartered rights by special legislation, or to make such rights and privileges irrevocable; but in case it shall be found that the exercise of such rights and privileges proves injurious to the people, then the General Assembly shall have power to alter, revoke or annul such charters, when that can be done without injustice to the corporators. We have declared that railroad corporations shall be liable as common carriers, and that to avail themselves of the benefits of future legislation, they must subject themselves to all the provisions and requirements of this Constitution. We have forbidden the consolidation of parallel and competing lines, and of all unjust and unreasonable discriminations between individual in their business with such corporations. We have carefully guarded the right of eminent domain, requiring a just compensation to be paid in cash when private property is taken, and have required all foreign corporations, as a condition of their doing business here, to have one or more known places of business, and an agent or representative within the State, upon whom the process of our courts can be served at any and all times. We have also retained the jurisdiction of our courts in case of consolidation of a corporation within the State with any foreign corporation, over that part of the corporate property within the limits of this State. We are aware that these provisions do not cover the whole ground, but it must be remembered that while some of our sister States have not gone far enough in placing restrictions on the legislative power, others have gone too far, and have had to recede. We have endeavored to take a middle ground, believing it to be more safe, and in the end that it will give more general satisfaction.

REVENUE AND FINANCE.

In framing this article, much labor was bestowed with the view of securing sufficient revenue to defray the expenses of the State government, without imposing onerous taxation upon any class of property or industry of the State. A uniform system of taxation upon the same class of subjects has been established. Mines and mining claims have been exempted for a period of ten years, except the net proceeds and surface improvements thereof, and ditches, canals and flumes owned and used by individuals and corporations, for the purpose of irrigating their own lands are not to be separately taxed. The property of the State, counties, cities, towns and other municipalities, and public libraries, are exempted from taxation, and, unless otherwise provided by law, lots and buildings thereon situate, used exclusively for religious worship, for schools and strictly charitable purposes, and places of burial of the dead, are exempted.

For the purpose of defraying the expenses of the State a tax is provided for, not in any case to exceed six mills on the dollar, with restrictions that when the valuation of property within the State shall amount to one hundred million dollars, the rate shall not exceed four mills, and when the valuation shall amount to three hundred million dollars, the rate shall never thereafter exceed two mills on each dollar of valuation. Corporations and corporate property, real and personal, are required to share the burdens of taxation, and the power to tax the same is never to be relinquished or suspended. The State Treasurer is required to keep a separate account of each fund in his hands, to render quarterly statements specifying the amount of each fund on hand, and where the same is deposited. Stringent provisions have been adopted to prevent the speculations in public moneys so generally engaged in by the custodians of these funds, which so often result in defalcations and loss to the people. A State Board of Equalization is created, consisting of the Governor, State Auditor, Treasurer and Secretary of State, whose duties are to equalize and adjust the valuation of real and personal property among the several counties, and the Board of County Commissioners in the respective counties are constituted County Boards of Equalization, whose duties are to equalize and adjust such valuations within their respective counties.

PUBLIC INDEBTEDNESS.

By the provisions of this article we have prohibited the Legislature from lending the credit of the State in aid of any corporation, either by loan or becoming a subscriber to any stock, or a joint owner with any party, except in case of forfeitures and escheats; also, from assuming any debt or liability of any party, and have also required appropriations to be kept within the limits of our resources, and that no appropriations be made unless assessments are also made sufficient to meet them, and at the same session of the Legislature.

The same principles are applied to counties, cities, towns and school districts, as far as applicable, with the additional safeguard that to increase the indebtedness in excess of the rates fixed in this Constitution a vote of the people must be had thereon. In limiting the amount of indebtedness which may be contracted by counties, we have endeavored to make a classification that would not cripple counties having small resources, and at the same time restricting those of larger resources to prevent extravagance.

SUFFRAGE AND ELECTIONS.

By this article we have given the right of suffrage to every male person over the age of twenty-one years, imposing such restrictions only as are required by the Constitution of the United States, and upon questions pertaining to schools in the several districts of the State no person is denied the right to vote on account of sex. The question of female suffrage having been strongly urged upon the Convention by petitions numerously signed and otherwise, and the Convention thinking it unwise to hazard the adoption of the Constitution upon the decision of this question, but recognizing the right of the people to express their will thereon, have required the General Assembly, at their first session, to submit the question to a direct vote of the people at the next general election thereafter. It is provided that an educational qualification for electors may be prescribed after the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety. For the purpose of preventing frauds and of protecting the purity of the ballot-box, the system of numbering ballots has been adopted. The working of this plan has been abundantly tested, and the benefits resulting therefrom are so numerous that to have omitted it would have been to have rejected that which the experience of the older States teaches to be wise and judicious; by this plan the secrecy of the ballot is not invaded, while frauds can be easily detected and the guilty party reached, without disfranchising a whole community, as frequently results under our present system.

ADDRESS TO THE

COUNTIES.

By this article we have provided that the General Assembly shall not by special law remove the county seat of any county, but that the location of county seats shall always remain a question to be voted on by the qualified electors in the several counties. We have provided that no portion of any county shall be stricken off, or any new county formed, without submitting the question to the electors of such county; and that when any portion of a county is added to another, or a new county created, the inhabitants thereof shall pay their proportion of the indebtedness of the county from which they were taken.

We have provided for the usual county and precinct officers, leaving the compensation to be received by them for their services to be fixed by law, as provided in section fifteen of this article. That no inconvenience may arise by reason of the change from a Territorial form of government to that of a State, it is provided that all county and precinct officers shall hold their respective offices for the full term for which they may have been elected.

MISCELLANEOUS.

We have provided that all laws upon our statute books at the adoption of this Constitution, shall remain in full force and effect until altered or repealed by the legislature of the State.

We have declared that all persons who are qualified electors at the adoption of the Constitution, shall be eligible to the several State offices, to the General Assembly, and to the various county offices.

We have prohibited under very stringent provisions the importation, manufacturing and sale of all spurious or adulterated liquors. We have provided for the passing of laws, to prevent the destruction of, and to keep in good preservation the forests upon the public domain. We have provided for the printing of this Constitution in Spanish as well as laws passed by the General Assembly until the year 1890, thus giving the Spanish-speaking population of the State an equal opportunity of being fully informed of the provisions of the fundamental law, as well as all laws passed in compliance therewith.

We have provided liberally for the amending of the Constitution, thus giving to the people frequent opportunities of changing the organic law when experience and public policy may require it.

In this hasty review of the several articles contained in this Constitution, we have endeavored to call your attention to those provisions in which we presumed you would be most interested. We do not think it necessary to enter into an elaborate argument to show why they should meet your approval; believing that you fully appreciate the inestimable prize secured by entering the sisterhood of States, whereby you gain those privileges that flow only from that form of government, which is the offspring of your choice, completely free in its principles, uniting in its powers security, happiness and prosperity of the whole people. But it is easy to foresee that from different causes, and from different sources, an effort will be made, and many artifices employed, to weaken in your minds the conviction of this truth, and we may reasonably assume that the chief objection made to a State government will not be founded upon the character of the instrument we have framed, but upon the alleged and supposed increase of expenses and consequent taxation. This is the old cry, and however potent it may have been heretofore, it certainly has lost its force in the facts of the present. We meet this objection directly, by conceding that a State government will, of course, involve an increased expense over that of our present form, but we assert that this expense will be more than balanced by the pecuniary gain alone which we will receive by becoming a State. We will suppose that if we are not admitted now, we will not have another opportunity of admission for at least five years. The increase in our expenses under a State government will be about $50,000 per annum, which, in five years, will amount to $250,000. This would be saved to us, or, more properly, be delayed in payment by remaining out of the Union five years longer.

Now, let us see what we would lose in that time: The act of Congress granting sections sixteen and thirty-six for school purposes, allows the State to select an amount of public land equal to that which has been sold out of said sections to settlers prior to survey. Under this arrangement we will be entitled to select about fifty sections of land.

The Enabling Act grants fifty other sections for public buildings, fifty sections for the penitentiary, and seventy-two sections for general purposes—making a total of two hundred and twenty-two sections, or one hundred and forty-two thousand and eighty acres of land, which, at $2.50 per acre, amounts, in value, to $385,200.

ADDRESS TO THE

It will also be remembered that, upon becoming a State, Colorado will be entitled to five hundred thousand acres of the public land within her borders, by virtue of a grant heretofore made by Congress. This amount, if selected now, would be worth to us at least $500,000.

The enabling act also grants the State five per cent. of the proceeds from the sale of the public agricultural lands after the adoption of this Constitution. The amount to be derived from this source for the next five years would exceed one hundred thousand dollars, which, added to the value of the land above mentioned, would make a total of about $1,000,000, which is four times the estimated amount of the increased expenses of the State for this period, so that we would really gain over three-quarters of a million dollars in five years by becoming a State. More than this, the revenues from sections 16 and 36 will save the whole State, in our school taxes, from ten to twenty-five thousand dollars yearly, making a saving in five years of from fifty to one hundred thousand dollars in addition to that already estimated. Should we not be admitted, and remain in a territorial condition five years longer, most, if not all, the public agricultural and non-mineral lands in Colorado, which are worth anything, will have been sold by that time, so that there being none left for selection, we would lose all this, even if a like grant should be renewed at the end of that time. No one will doubt this statement who reflects upon the small amount of public agricultural lands now left within our Territorial limits, and considers the probable immigration for the next five years. The five per cent. alluded to would, from the same cause, like the lands granted in the enabling act, be forever lost to Colorado, and we would, therefore, at the end of that time be obliged to commence our Statehood with increased expenses, and at a dead loss of over a million of dollars at the lowest possible estimate. In addition to these several benefits to be derived by our admission into the Union at this time, we would also call your attention to the fact that, by cutting off special legislation, we have lessened the expenses of that department almost one-half; by reducing the number of the petit and grand jurors the expenses of the judiciary department are greatly reduced, while the provisions guarding against hasty legislation at the close of the sessions of the General Assembly, will prevent great squandering of public money, and in many cases save more to the State than sufficient to pay the per diem and mileage of the members of that body.

This much for the pecuniary balance of gains and losses. Let us now look at the political and substantial advantages of Statehood as contrasted with our present condition of Territorial vasalage. By becoming a State, we elect our officers from our own people and are permitted to join in the election of the Chief Magistrate of the Nation, thus enjoying for the first time, while in Colorado, the sweets of self-government.

Our privileges will then be enlarged, we will no longer be suppliants for the rights and immunities belonging to freemen—we will have gained them. Then we will be able to assume our proper station among the States of the Union. With two Senators and a Representative in the National Congress, we will be enabled to command respect, and to secure additional appropriations for the fostering of our industries, as well as of extending our political privileges; then we will have a voice in the matter of Indian treaties, in the establishing of military posts and roads, in the location of mail routes, in the passing of laws concerning the title to mineral veins, and providing for the disposal of the mineral and pastoral lands of the State as suited to peculiar wants; also upon many other questions which at present interest us, but upon which we cannot now be heard. Who is there among you that would not rather be a citizen of an independent sovereign State, than a mere settler upon the public lands of the Territory, governed by satraps appointed and removed at pleasure, as best serves the whims and purposes of political rings and cliques—beggars, asking pittance at the gate of the nation; poor wards dependent upon the charity of Congress, living in a sort of penal colony, the Botany Bay of political servitude? Now that the golden opportunity is afforded, shall this state of things longer exist? We confidently believe it will not. Let us cherish, then, this occasion with more than ordinary zeal, actuated by the memories of the past, and inspired by the rewards for us in the future; let us arouse ourselves to the responsibilities of the hour, and, as citizens of a free republic, become, in fact, as well as in name, citizens of the American Union of Sovereign States.
